DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on pages 52-62, and 64-70 (tables) all chart, tables must be removed and be created in the drawing section. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-78 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Corrado et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,482,314).

As to claims 1, 28, 44, 67, 69, Corrado et al. disclose a vehicle system for determining the occupancy state of a seat in the vehicle and comprising a plurality of transducers (24, 26) as shown in Fig. 14 wherein each transducers providing data relating to the occupancy state of the seat. It also comprises at least one database and processor (74,77,82) as shown in Fig. 14 for receiving the data from the transducers and processing the data to obtain an output indicative of the current occupancy state of the seat, the processor comprises an algorithm created from a plurality of data sets each of the data sets representing a different occupancy state of the seat See Fig. 14 (ex: empty seat, child seat). The algorithm producing the output indicative of the current occupancy state of the seat upon inputting a data set representing the current occupancy state of the seat and being formed from data from the transducers (See abstract, lines 11-14).

As to claims 2-27, 29-43, 45-60, 68, 70-78, Corrado et al. disclose the algorithm is a pattern recognition algorithm (neural network) (See col. 6, lines 21-25) and inputs are combined in a microprocessor circuit by means of a sensor fusion algorithm to produce an output signal to the air bag controller (See abstract, lines 1-17) Corrado et al. disclose the databases and preprocessing the data and for having occupancy states of the seat (See col. 3, lines 31-36, 44-53; col. 7, lines 45-60; See Figs. 9a-9c, 15b, 21-23).

As to claims 31-44, 61-66, Corrado et al. disclose the occupancy of the seat using live human beings (See col. 10, lines 43-46). It further discloses the environmental conditions inside the vehicle (See col. 9, lines 20-45). The further limitations are disclosed by Corrado et al. (See col. 11, lines 34-52; col. 14, lines 22-67).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11

Art Unit: 3661

F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-78 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-56 of copending Application No. 09/382,406. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have a neural network producing the output indicative of the current occupancy state of the seat upon inputting a data set representing the current occupancy state of the seat and being formed from data from at least some of the transducers since it would perform the same function of determining the occupancy state of a seat.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure

Breed et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,078,854) disclose an apparatus and method for adjusting a vehicle component.

Breed et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,081,757) disclose a seated state detecting apparatus.
